FIRE DANGER INFORMATION

Fire restrictions can be applied across Victoria by CFA, when fire danger is high.

Typically this is over the period of November through to April. Nhill and Hindmarsh Shire Council falls within the "Wimmera" Fire Ban District. Please note at the end of the fire seasons, usually April, a number of farmers will burn off stubble and smoke may be evident in the area.

A Total Fire Ban is declared for the district by CFA on days when fires are likely to spread rapidly and could be difficult to control. A Total Fire Ban declaration means no fire can be lit for the declared district for that day.

Welcome TO NHILL

Midway between Melbourne and Adelaide, Nhill is a thriving country town offering a picturesque place to stop, explore, and recharge.

If history is more your thing, Nhill prolific Historical Society is jam-packed with information, exhibits, and stories of yester-year. The historic town walk highlights many architectural wonders.

Our wide open spaces provide the perfect spot for photographers and painters alike, with endless sunsets and scenic views of wildflowers, flora, and fauna.

Whether you're visiting for an afternoon, a weekend or longer, there are many places of interest and things to do in Nhill. Stop, relax, and enjoy our big skies, big lakes and big deserts.

On the edge of the Little Desert National Park, the commercial centre of Nhill has attractive parks and gardens within the median strip.

The town was first surveyed in 1879, when Noske's Flour Mill was built and by 1880 a general store, drapery, and hotel were built.

In 1897 a major tornado destroyed most of Nhill but the historic Post Office, built in 1887, survived and still features in the town.

Nhill is part of the Hindmarsh Shire, which covers an area of 7,500 square kilometres. The population of Nhill at the 2016 census, was 2184.

Agriculture is the major industry, not only of Nhill, but of the whole Hindmarsh region. 62% of all business enterprises are in this sector, based largely on grain and sheep production.

Nature enthusiasts can go four wheel driving then camp under our big sky with countless stars to watch over you. Water lovers can enjoy water-skiing, rowing or kayaking at Nhill Lake.

Don't forget to pack your golf clubs and enjoy a relaxing, peaceful hit of golf. Perhaps a game of lawn bowls would be a pleasant way to spend a Saturday afternoon.

Attractions to Explore

FLORA & FAUNA

Nature, outdoors, and wide open spaces are our flagship attractions.

Take some time out to stop and enjoy nature at whatever pace you fancy; walking, cycling, four wheel driving or just resting in one of the many parks and nature areas. The region boasts many natural swamps and dams, and is home to many species of birds and wild life.

GLENLEE NATURE RESERVE

Home for many indigenous plants and varieties of birds, the Glenlee Nature Reserve boasts a wonderful display of spring flowers.

HERMAN'S HILL NATURE WALK

Herman's Hill Nature walk is located to the north-east of Nhill (take the Nhill-Rainbow Road) on the edge of Wyperfield National Park, between Jeparit and Rainbow. Here you can take a walk through the Mallee scrub to a hill overlooking the surrounding district. You will find a bird hide and an information bay.

The track is sandy through paperbarks. Information on plants, birds and other living things is provided in notices under well-designed lift-up aluminium covers.

The track rises a total of 25 metres, but there are a few ups and downs along the way. At the top there is a low timber platform permitting visitors to see over most of the surrounding vegetation.

BROKEN BUCKET, BIG DESERT

Despite the name, bore water is available at Broken Bucket, and there are toilets here as well. It is signposted approximately 53km north of Nhill.

Please check the road conditions before commencing travel. Some access is restricted to dry weather due to the sandy track.

MURRAYVILLE TRACK

This track is in the Big Desert National Park and conditions vary considerably depending on the weather. From Nhill, travel towards Yanac and then follow the signs to Broken Bucket. Please check local conditions before using the track.

PARKS & GARDENS

Goldsworthy Park in the median strip of the Nhill's main street and Jaypex Park on the western end of town provide shady areas to rest and recharge in the lovely surrounds.

Each of the parks has free barbeque facilities, playgrounds, seating, and reputable toilet facilities. The parks are immaculately maintained and have green grass all year round.

Goldsworthy Park features a fully fenced playground area, providing a safe environment for children and families to play and rest. The Hindmarsh Visitor Information Centre, located next to the playground, provides a range of local, regional, and state information to assist you with your visit and with future travels.

Jaypex Park gives access to a boardwalk, which connects the park to Nhill Lake via the Nhill Swamp Wildlife Reserve.

Rural Communities

Nhill and District is made up of a number of rural communities. Historically many of the communities consisted of a general store, a school, a local church, the community hall, and some even had a pub.

Many locals took the trip into town (Nhill) once a month or for a special occasion. Presently, many rural residents commute to Nhill and beyond, for school, work and other services.

Indigenous Heritage

A canoe tree is located at Jaypex Park. The Corroboree Ground situated around the Nhill Lake and Nature Reserve area is a traditional location where groups would meet and perform ceremonies, consisting of traditional songs, dances, weddings, trading and celebrations.

Displays are updated regularly including past exhibitions of Nhill College VCE Arts students, and solo exhibitions by local talent.

Nhill Memorial Community Centre

The centre provides a magnificent venue for community events, debutante balls, live performances, and regular movie screenings. Please check the display boards at the front and side of the centre for upcoming events and movies.

John Shaw Neilson Cottage

Members of the Nhill & District Historical Society reconstructed the two original rooms of the home in which Nhill's resident poet John Shaw Neilson was born. The cottage is located on a site adjoining Jaypex Park. Neilson was one of Australia's great lyric poets. He wrote about his life in and around Nhill.

Malleefowl Memorial

Located at the front of the council offices in Nhill. The Malleefowl is a unique flightless bird, which builds large earth mounds to incubate its eggs.

Nhill Aviation Centre

Famous Aviators who landed at Nhill include Bert Hinkler, Charles Butler, Horrie Miller, Charles Kingsford-Smith, Amy Johnson, Jimmy Mollison, and Nancy Bird. Nhill hosted the first East-West Air Race from Sydney to Perth in 1929 as well as the Brisbane - Adelaide Centenary Race in 1936.

Nhill's aerodrome attained national significance during the Second World War as the site of a Royal Australia Air Force Base. Between 1941 and 1946, approximately 10,000 Air Force personnel trained at Nhill. Aspects of training required a bombing range, which was set up in the Little Desert south of the township. Avro Ansons were the main aircraft used in training, with up to 35 Ansons on the base on any given day.

The centre now displays the three types of training aircraft used at the base: an Avro Anson, a Wirraway and a Tiger Moth. Plus there is a fantastic display of other memorabilia highlighting the hey-day of the base.

Nhill Railway Station

The section of railway line from Dimboola to Nhill, and then onto the South Australian border was opened on 19 January 1887 at a cost of £514.12. Nhill Railway Station and platform buildings were completed two years later at a cost of £3,783.

Post Office

Nhill Post Office foundation stone was consecrated on 28 October 1887 using corn as plenty, wine as joy, and oil as gladness. The first post office operating in Nhill commenced on 1 September 1861, remaining open until 10 April 1867 when a post office was opened at nearby Lawloit. There were a number of changes to the mail route serving Nhill over the years.

Talking Draught Horse

This monument in Goldsworthy Park is a reminder of the major part the draught horse played in the development of Australia and this region. The memorial, erected in April 1966 was modelled on a Clydesdale and modified to look like the original draught horse. The first two horses arrived in Nhill in 1844. A team of horses hauled Nhill's first harvest 160km to the nearest rail head at Stawell for delivery to Melbourne.

War Memorials

The World War I memorial was erected in 1920 in memory of the people who lost their lives during this war. This was part of a nationwide project.

All local people who served during World War II are named on an honour board on display in the Nhill Memorial Community Centre.

More recently, in 2011, a Royal Australian Air Force memorial was erected to honour those who served.
